

Gaussian-kernel smoothing is for visualizing the sensitivity boundary; dashed grey contours mark the local support cutoff.