

White contours mark 50% empirical recovery after light count-weighted smoothing; blank cells have little local injection support.